Railway Extension From Proposed Rosemary Branch

Winnipeg, Oct. 18.—In order to shorten the road haul for settlers in the flourishing districts in the irrigation block, the Canadian Pacific Railway Company proposes to take in hand next the construction of branch lines to serve the Gem colony, northeast of Bassano, and the Bow Slope colony, southwest of Brooks. It was announced here today.

Application is being made in parliament for a charter for the line to serve the Gem colony. It will be built off the Rosemary northerly branch, construction of which has already been approved by parliament.

The branch line to serve the Bow Slope district, will leave the main line at or near Caswell. It is expected that this new construction will promote settlement of other irrigated lands in the district.

Real Scotch

"Mac, would you like a little of something Scotch—the real thing?"

"Well, now—I never—" "Of course you would, Mary, bring out that pot of Dundee marmalade."

Skating and Curling Activities

This week we had the question put to us of curling and skating activities, locally, this Winter. Apparently everything concerned with these two topics is very quiet in town. However, we cannot hope for a continuance of such more frosty weather, and if anything is going to be done, a time should be lost in getting lined up to make necessary preparations. A meeting called by the Curling Club to test out local opinion on the subject would appear to offer a solution.

Alberta's Tourist Traffic

Alberta's three national parks—Jasper, Banff and Waterton Lakes, received nearly $2,000,000 from the tourist traffic in 1925, stated J. M. Wardle, chief engineer, Canadian national parks, in an address to the Canadian Road Builders Association Convention at Edmonton recently.

In 1925, 335,400 people had visited Canada's various national parks, and by August of this year, that total had been already reached for the current year. Jasper, Banff and Waterton Lakes got 140,000 of these tourists, of whom 87,000 came by rail, and 51,000 by auto. Eighty thousand of this total were Canadians.

"The Stream of Life"

"The Stream of Life," the picture film from the Alberta University Extension Department was shown in the school room of the United Church on Monday evening. The feature film was prefaced by a scenic film of Norway and Alaska which were beautiful in effect. Also a character sketch, "Taming of the Shrew." Music accompaniment was furnished by Mrs. Arden, J. McNeill, violin, Mr. McAllister, flute. The picture was well received; the attendance was not large.

An editor at Memphis wrote a letter to U.S. authorities in complaint of courtesies and free publicity, etc., that Queen Marie of Rumania is getting at the expense of the U.S. Evidently this editor was willing to take all the free publicity he could get at the expense of Queen Marie.

What About a New Ford

London, Ont., Sept. 18.—The proverbial thrill that comes once in a lifetime came to hundreds of Ford owners in the grandstand at the Western Fair today when they saw a standard Ford romp away from a Whippet and Chevrolet competitor in the special five mile race on the Queen's Park track. The Ford finished nearly six hundred yards ahead of the other contestants, making the five mile grind in 7.27. The race was a sensational feature of the fair program, resulting from a challenge issued by the Whippet representatives to all owners of light cars.

The spectators saw a thrilling race despite the fact that the Ford led the whole way. For the first four miles the contest was exceptionally keen between the Whippet and the Ford, but the Chevrolet was easily lapped. The Whippet made good time on the corners, but on the straight the Ford zoomed ahead like a racing car.

N. D. STOREY

Hurlburt-Crozier

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Crozier was the scene of a very pretty but quiet wedding on Wednesday, October 20, when their daughter, Eunice Cornelia, became the bride of George Wesley Hurlburt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hurlburt.

The bride wore gown of antique blue satin with silver trimmings and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. N. W. Whitmore in the presence of the parents of the bride and groom, the brides two brothers and Miss H. Roberts. Mr. Robert Crozier and Miss H. Roberts signed the register.

After the wedding dinner the happy couple left by car for Medicine Hat and polite wait. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm north of town.

Red Cross and Health Education

Red Cross has many obligations to fulfil in order to meet the mandate of the League of Nations that it become actively engaged in the "Improvement of Health, Mitigation of Suffering and the Prevention of Disease Throughout the World." Not the least of these is to educate the people of Canada to safeguard their own health, and individually to prevent disease from entering the citadel of their bodies.

Year by year a steady advance has been made by the Alberta Division in its Health Education Bureau. Demands on the Health Library increase at an encouraging rate from all quarters of the Province. The effect of a "Health-reading" mother is bound to be felt in the lives of her children. She will carry over her daily routine the lessons of maternity and child welfare she has studied. Over 8000 pamphlets are distributed per month in Alberta and each week Radio Health Talks are broadcast.

Master Harold Tucker, had the misfortune to break his collar bone, Sunday.

Wheat Pool Make Final Payment on 1925 Crop

Calgary.—Members of the Wheat Pool got $142½ for wheat raised in 1925.

Cheques paying two and a half cents a bushel, basis No. 1 Northern, delivered at Vancouver, are in the mail.

The 1924 price is for the highest grade.

The Alberta pool banded forty-five million bushels of last year's crop and the Western Canada pool, embracing the pools of the three prairie provinces, banded 190 million bushels.

The central selling agency developed $145 the average price, deductions for elevator reserve fund, commercial reserve and provincial administration costs have been made from the 145 price.

The final payment totals the sum of $8,850,000, which is being distributed throughout the west.

Bazaar and Supper, Ladies' Aid of the United Church

The Ladies' Aid Bazaar and Supper on Saturday last, held in the Union Church school room proved a highly successful dual event. The bazaar goods were all sold out. The supper patronage was also very generous. We have not yet received details as are unable to give a fuller report in this issue.

Here and There

Victoria—Twenty head of grade Oxford ewes, two years old, from May's Canadian light horns sold to Japanese buyers. This makes a new departure in the sheep industry of the three prairie provinces, headed 190 million bushels.

It is estimated that southern British Columbia will produce 3,270,000 boxes of apples this season, this is about 700,000 boxes more than last year's production. Arrangements are being made for a heavy export business to Great Britain, as well as to the Prairies and Eastern Canada.

A regular aerial mail service has been established between Osaka in Japan and Dairien in South Manchuria, two Japanese built "Kawanishi" planes being used. The service is daily, and is being sponsored by the "Osaka Mainichi" one of the largest newspapers in Japan whose aviators recently flew to Berlin.

Moose Jaw—One thousand head of Western Canadian light horns purchased for the Soviet government were assembled here. The horses, which are all light, are being bought for the Russian government with Russian funds placed in Canadian banks for that purpose. A similar purchase was made last year and the repeating of the order indicates satisfaction with the Canadian stock.

The increase in the net profits for the Canadian Pacific Railway for the first eight months of the year ending August 31st is $6,814,895.75, according to a financial statement issued at the headquarters of the Canadian Pacific at Montreal. This is the increase in profits as compared with the profits for the same period in 1925. The increase in the gross earnings over the same period in 1925 is stated at $12,691,364.87.

"Hell-Roaring Canyon," the scene of a dramatic incident in John Murray Gibbin's new novel "Eye of a Gypsy" is the actual name of a remote valley in the Canadian Pacific Rockies as known to the guide and hunter, although the Geographic Board of the Canadian Government has just changed it to a less romantic name—"Suma Creek." The reason for the change in name is that there is another Hell-Roaring Canyon in the Rockies which claims a prior right to the name.

Seed Treatment Of Wheat To Control Smut And Other Diseases Gives Larger Yield

That crop losses caused by parasitic organisms such as fungi and bacteria, amount to many millions of dollars annually is the statement made by the Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior at Ottawa. The remedy is seed disinfection.

Dr. Clayton Roberts, Ontario, Professor of Plant Pathology at Peabody State College in Chicago, has been to research along this line and has been able to trace the spread of plant diseases through seed distribution in many cases. Through the sale and distribution of infected seed, parasites have been widely distributed throughout the production areas of the world. Some parasites, such as the cereal smuts, are known to be distributed wherever these crops are grown. The seed treatment of wheat, oats, barley, etc., will control smut and other diseases and result in a yield increase valued greatly in terms of the epidemic involved. For seed disinfection, sulphate, copper and corrosive soda have been generally recommended, but each has its limitations. More recently organic mercurials have come to the attention of scientists studying the problem of seed disinfection. These appear to be superior to any material previously used, giving as wide a range of toxicity to parasites and a much wider margin of safety.

Newborns are beginning to enter interest in seed treatment. It has been predicted that in a few years only disinfectant seed will be sold or seed purchased under such conditions as to be relatively free from seed-borne parasites.

Tankage for Nursing Sows

Provides a Useful Part of the Ration As Shown by Tests

Tankage has been proved at the Brandon Experimental Farm to provide a useful part of the ration for sows raising litters. A test was made with five sows with litters of seven, eight, and nine pigs. The sows were divided into two groups, one with tankage and one without. The sows with tankage raised litters of seven, eight, and nine pigs, while the sows without tankage raised litters of six, seven, and eight pigs. The sows with tankage also raised litters of seven, eight, and nine pigs, while the sows without tankage raised litters of six, seven, and eight pigs. The sows with tankage also raised litters of seven, eight, and nine pigs, while the sows without tankage raised litters of six, seven, and eight pigs.

Okanagan Fruit Crop

Estimated That Apple Crop Will Be Heavier This Year

It is estimated by the Horticultural Department of the Provincial Government that the apple crop of the Okanagan district will reach a total of 2,175,000 boxes, as compared with the total crop last year of 2,025,419 boxes. The crab apple estimate is for 117,450 boxes, as compared with 115,623 boxes last year; pears, 10,000 boxes, compared with 10,143; plums and prunes, 215,250 boxes, as against 217,765 boxes last year.

An Old Irish Tune

The late "Yankee Doodle" was the American at all but Irish was a teamster. Flood, an Irish authority on musical history. He asserts that "Yankee Doodle" was an old Irish song, first known as "All the King's Daughters," and "God Save the King," the British national anthem. Dr. Flood says it is an old Irish song which appeared about 1755. London Daily Express.

European Wheat Crop Less

The wheat crop of Europe is probably estimated at 125,000,000 bushels as compared with 125,000,000 bushels last year, according to a report received by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. The total wheat production of European countries is 509,629,000 bushels against 1,052,320,000 last year, a decrease of 42,000,000 bushels.

Unemployment in Britain

Over One Million Persons in Receipt of Poor Relief

On one day in July of this year 1,688,948 persons were in receipt of poor relief in 31 selected areas of Great Britain. While this is 17 per cent less than the previous month, it is 23.3 per cent greater than in July 1925. According to advice just received by Bankers Trust Company of New York from its British Information Service, 204 out of every 10,000 of the estimated population were in receipt of aid in July of this year compared with 214 in July of 1925 and 281 in July of last year.

Of the above total of 1,688,948, 905,945 were persons living in England or Wales, and of this total 114,794 received indoor relief and the balance, 791,261, received outdoor relief. In Scotland the total receiving aid was 171,202, of which 2,451 received indoor relief and 168,751 outdoor relief.

Electricity and Steam

Electrification of Railways Now Beyond the Experimental Stage

Electrification of railways is well beyond the experimental stage in London and in several of the large provincial cities, such as Liverpool. It gives greater speed, a more frequent service of trains, and a pleasant immunity from the smoke and dirt inseparable from steam locomotion. Technical authorities incline to the opinion that the big towns will be benefited by gradually widening circles, but that steam will at least for some years, hold its own for long distance haulage. The progress already made in electrification in Canada has afforded to possess economies in passenger and freight haulage.

Made Huge Omelet

When the American Theological Society held a luncheon in connection with its recent convention at Chicago, the culinary force of a hotel was taxed to manufacture a huge omelet, containing 200 eggs and 800 pounds of butter, the single dish of the meal.

Alberta Wheat Pool

Four hundred thousand additional acres in the province have been signed up during the present year, according to reports from the field agents of the Alberta Wheat Pool. The Alberta Pool expects to handle sixty per cent of this year's crop.

Successful Annual Pastures

Pasturable and Profitable Green Feed for Livestock

There are three successful annual pastures particularly grown in this country. These are rape, hairy vetch, and lucerne. The last named is not often referred to as regards its quality as a forage plant, but as stated in a recently issued pamphlet by the P. E. Crop Division of the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa, the hairy vetch (wheat) leaf and Trifolium (smooth-leaved) types make a successful, palatable and profitable addition to our annual pastures. Experiments in the cultivation of these crops have been conducted for several years at the Central and branch farms and stations throughout Canada. High moisture makes them difficult to cure, but also is responsible for their giving satisfactory results when pastured or fed green.

In the pamphlet, which is available at the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, is given a table of results from tests at the Central Experimental Farm and also quotations from reports received from different branch farms and stations in all the provinces, showing the suitability of these fleshy annual crops for a wide range of soil and climatic conditions. In Prince Edward Island rape has proved good pasture in the fall for steers. In Nova Scotia it has proved the same for goats. Brandon, Manitoba, results indicate that rape has an important place as a quick pasture for cattle, sheep and hogs. It recovers quickly from frost. Rape is generally known throughout the west as affording good pasture for hams, brood sows and growing pigs.

Rape is grown extensively in the Fraser Valley and on Vancouver Island, and has proven one of the best available green foods for poultry and for milk cows.

Homestead Entries in West To Date Are Reported Greater Than For The Entire Year 1925

B.C. Honey Yield

A Wide Variety of Flavors in Coast Province Product

British Columbia, apparently, is the only province where the honey yield is expected to approach normal, and even in this case the crop is described as spotty. However, as high as 25 cents per pound is being bid for the product from the Pacific Coast, and despatches indicate there will be no difficulty in disposing of any surplus over home requirements in the Prairie Provinces.

While there is a wide variety in flavor of honey in any section, because of the greater the number of different sources, that made in British Columbia, on account of the great range in climate, seems to be distinct from any other in the Dominion. The honey coming from the Apennines in the mountains has a particularly pleasing flavor in most cases, but just what plant is responsible for this is not altogether known. It has been in a few instances traced to a plant on the mountain side that is almost inaccessible to man. Prospectors have reported seeing bees working over a plant locally known as false leather which grows on high, rocky ledges.

Northern Alberta Crops

Oats Will Yield Sixty to Seventy Bushels to the Acre

Thirty bushels wheat crops will be common in the northern agricultural districts this year, according to estimates given by agents along the lines of the Edmonton, Dawson and Lethbridge Railways. From every district—except one—indications are that a bumper crop will be harvested in the Northwest. In the majority of districts oats will yield sixty to seventy bushels per acre, with barley running in the neighborhood of thirty bushels per acre.

Panner (to chemist): Now be sure you put them both in there. It's for my wife and which is for the cow. I don't want nothing to happen to that Jersey cow.

Homesteading on Government Land

In Canada showed a large increase for the first seven months of the present year, says a Canadian Pacific bulletin. In this period a total of 3,529 homesteads were filed in Western Canada, as compared with 2,086 in 1925, an increase of more than 8 per cent. Every province showed a substantial gain, the largest being in Manitoba, where the number was 671, as compared with 329 in 1925. Other figures were: Saskatchewan, 1,371, against 927; Alberta, 1,247, against 866; and British Columbia, 93, against 14. The bulletin says that these filings accounted for the settlement of 612, 800 acres of land, and that if only half of this acreage were seeded to wheat and produced the average yield of last year, it would have raised the production of western wheat by nearly 6,000,000 bushels. The bulletin continues:

"The homestead entries for the first seven months of 1926 are greater than for the entire year 1925, and approximately equal to the entire filings of the year 1924."

New Feeder Purchase Policy

To Encourage Eastern Livestock Men to Buy Feeder Cattle in West

The new feeder purchase policy recently authorized by the Minister of Agriculture, will be in effect from September 1 to December 31. It is for the purpose of ensuring the success of the feeder flows to be held in Western Canada. It provides for the purchase of feeder cattle by Eastern Canada to fulfill a connection with Western ranchers for the securing of their cattle. The policy provides for feeder cattle to be purchased under the terms of the policy, the Live Stock Branch will pay the reasonable travelling expenses of a farmer who purchases one or more carloads of stock in the Western states to be shipped back East for feeding purposes.

Praise for Lord Willingdon

Glowing Tribute Paid to Canada's New Governor-General

Has Valuable Relic

Pennsylvania College Has Lenses to Discover Oxygen

The celebration of the sesquicentennial of the discovery of oxygen in 1774 by Joseph Priestley, pioneer in chemical research, recalls the burning of a candle in a glass jar, a phenomenon used by Priestley which is in the possession of Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa. The lens, together with an accompanying apparatus, is of scientific interest because it was with a similar lens that Priestley, by concentrating the sun's rays on mercuric oxide, discovered the gas oxygen. The college came into possession of the valuable relic through Thomas Cooper, who accompanied Priestley to America in 1794.

Increased Earnings on Railways

Increased density of traffic is thrown into relief as the underlying cause of this year's increased earnings by Canadian railways in the first half of the year. For the first six months gross revenue of all the railways was $285,615,000, or 15.6 per cent more than in the corresponding period of 1925. The increase was even higher as the ratios between operating expenses and revenue was appreciably lower during this period.

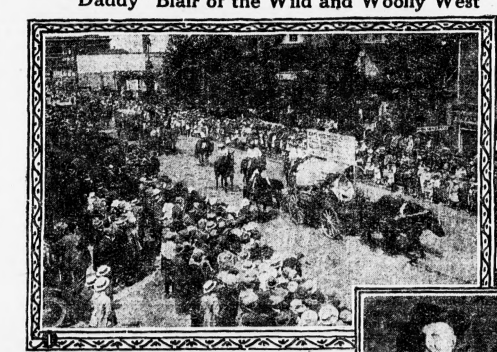

New Motor Oil

Chemists, seeking a substitute for motor oil, which has to be improved, have found a way to secure the oil from grape seeds. This is said to be of very high quality and can be refined by the use of sulphuric acid. Seven or eight gallons of oil are taken from the seeds of a ton of grapes.

"Daddy" Blair of the Wild and Woolly West

1. One of the stampedes that attended Hudson Bay Parade, 1926, at the age of 84.

2. Blair, dressed as Cowboy, taking part in the parade.

A world-weary Old Timer, one of the pioneers of the Canadian West, died recently in Edmonton at the age of 84. He was known as "Daddy" Blair, but his real name was Robert Alexander Blair. As a scout, soldier and adventurer he carried the Hudson Bay Company flag into the hidden corners of the West for half a century. Finally, having his old shoulders before the ravages of age, since the inauguration of stampedes in 1924, he was known as "Daddy" Blair. He was always one of the first to attend no matter how much he felt the weight of his years. He made his last effort in 1929 when he attended the Hudson Bay Parade in Edmonton at the age of 84.

He was only fourteen years of age when he left the old homestead near Montreal. The glamour, the excitement, the rush and uncertainty of life in the West, the performance of the "tombstoning" of happy pleasure-seekers, fired him. Even the fact that his life was in danger did not dampen his enthusiasm. He carried mail for Hudson Bay Company over the Crown's New Trail; he narrowly escaped being burned to death by Indians. Daddy Blair's adventure had been thought to be over.

To the street. There was a shout, a cheer from one of the spectators, and before anyone knew what was happening Daddy had reached the point where the stampede was taking place. He was the first to see the child's life up above two inches. In the mix up Daddy fell into the muddy street, ruining his clothes. Her Majesty Queen Victoria, who happened to be in the crowd, called out to him. He was up in a flash, and the next day, shook hands with Daddy and had a suit of clothes sent to him.

For many years, in the sunset of his life, Daddy was a familiar figure on the streets of Edmonton with his silvery patriarchal mustache and solitary bonnet. He had a great sense of humor for buildings, and finally, when the old man could work no longer, he was taken care of by Miss Chalmers of the Red Cross. Daddy Blair's life was a story of adventure and discovery, and he died a rich man in the eyes of his friends.

It's The Lace Effect In A Tiffany Bread Wrap

That Makes It Suggest A Superior Quality Loaf

If you make good bread, a Tiffany Bread Wrap will become it admirably.

For the lace design in the wrap appeals to a woman's fancy—and makes good bread look its best.

Besides, the lace design hides folds and creases in the paper—keeps the loaf fresh-looking.

Bakers are enthusiastic about this wrapper because it is selling like hot bread for them. Customers instinctively prefer the quality loaf in the Tiffany Wrapper.

When he was satisfied of her observations, which occurred hardly more than a brief hesitation, Lord Teddy moved closer on the cushioned divan—only the knee, which was crossed and pointed his way, halted him. His voice, when he spoke, was little above a murmur.

"Please," he pleaded, "don't let us pretend. It's much nicer not to, really. You do it splendidly but you couldn't be wholly successful. When a woman has had so much experience, old enough, you know, so that a man knows there's nothing new under either the sun or the moon for her, then she has to pretend that she hasn't yet learned that everything is what it is and not what's in copy books. If she didn't she'd be too disgusting, so we know she's serious about it. But when a lovely girl makes believe she doesn't understand everything and she doesn't know she's just making believe, because she thinks she does, anyway. Don't you?"

Joanna regarded him elaborately, frankly indulging his own examination of her a moment before. "Yes," she said, her face still making play upon his. "Then you have a way with you—a teacher, I suppose you're a diploma, or some sort of reference or thing like that?" His remark induced her to blush under his mask of serene reserve.

"Only experience, my lovely Joanna."

"My friends," she called to them "I'm in a darling mood tonight."

"We seem to be making a bargain of some sort. When you happen to think about it, tell me what it is worth?" The host I can get out of it is that you want to be a guide and you've ambitions of some kind. I like ambitions tremendously. It's so much fun flatter them out."

"Yes," he admitted. "You'd flatten almost anybody I should imagine. You wouldn't be afraid of nothing anything. That's why I'd like it awfully if—" She nodded at him. "I know," she smiled for him. "If I'd give you my other hand, too, and let you fill up the rest of the distance between us. Then you could tell me just how pretty you think I am, and how you've always been crazy about half like mine and you'd like to run your fingers through it, and make me feel like a something new along that line that I'd never heard before and then you'd end up by saying 'I was just made for somebody to love a lot and you're somebody. Have I forgotten anything?'"

"Not a thing," he declared. "When do we begin?"

"This time they laughed together buoyantly. Joanna decided she was going to enjoy this fat, bald, ebullient young man whose chief aim in life, according to Yvonne, was consoling neglected wives. He was amazingly handsome, so easily read as he was an open book, and she was convinced utterly harmless. Yvonne's picture of him puzzled her. She concluded he would be easily in his thirties, but, already she was becoming accustomed to older men than her "cousin here" had been. John always had appeared older to her than any of the other chaps she knew, although he wasn't in years. She was astonished, secretly, at her own ability to be interesting to men who must have several more apprenticeships at most darning shirts day after day.

She was still disturbed by that ready suggestion of his at their sudden meeting earlier in the afternoon. She remembered him at the afternoon, and declared that she wouldn't be satisfied with him until he had made satisfactory explanation. He was not abashed.

"You were such a surprise," he asserted her. "Not at all like the usual girl one sees about. In places, I'm fairly fed up, you know, on girls, most girls, I mean. They're lost their enthusiasm. You're enthusiastic. Sort of caught me up sharply with it. And you haven't been spoiled. The girls one meets nowadays seem to be spoiled; that is, too many of them. The kind I know. They're the daughters of the crowd that have show dogs, you know. Punny, but it has always struck me, when a woman gets a show dog her daughter goes to the devil. Really doesn't go to the devil you know, but tries to act like she had been to him and found him too old-fashioned to be amusing. Now you're different. As soon as I saw you I was sure there was no chow in your family. Are there?"

"Not having any family, there aren't any," she said quietly.

"Right! There's a reference for you. You see I'm always right about women. You're a flapper without a show dog. There's a heap of difference. If I were a literary chap now, I'd put that in a book, or something like it. It's you have to figure it out yourself. It's deeper than I'm going to say. I thought you must be something different, and I couldn't think of anything but sleek skin and dancing girls. I think they've got some, any way. The difference that indicate them have—by the name rule. Now and I forget."

"I never forget a man anything," she declared pompously. "It always makes him dance rags."

"That's your difference," he declared earnestly. "The kind of girl I don't see as you are, is the one who's always trying to forget. They say it adds to excitement."

Yvonne's voice interrupted. She dropped into a chair and surveyed him with a look that said she was not liking it of quite reluctantly. She commented, "No entertaining conversation, I hope." Of Joanna, she asked: "It's relieved himself of his own ambitions for his pun at Doris and P, I suppose?"

"We'd just started on them when we cut all preliminaries and got down to ourselves. Teddy informed her of my opinion. 'We've made progress. I shall be here tomorrow promptly at four o'clock minutes.'"

"You will not!" Yvonne corrected him. "Miss Manners—by the way, you made it. Joanna yet I see that 'You Manners.' Well, then, Joanna has a day slipped out. There's some important thing, I suppose, and you can run along now, Teddy if you will. You may fix yourself a drink on your way out."

When a man came Yvonne and Joanna took up the 'important' matters of the morning; the automobile, the chauffeur—"I'll and you one," Yvonne agreed—and a decent upon a famous jewelry house.

"There'll be a crowd here tomorrow night," Yvonne explained. "That's what Teddy was referring to. I'm making it a big crowd in your honor. I'd already planned a night at it, but I've elaborated for you. You'll meet everyone and they'll meet you. I'll have an unmarried sonnet and two married ones, without their wives; a few rolled, Russian prince, and a smattering of their princesses. You'll like the Russian girls. Some South Americans who will make you think, always of caprices or black diamonds, and everybody who's in love with me or wants to be. That'll make a representative party. I've been to know how you'll like it—the crowd I mean. Between Brandon and Teddy, say nothing of Teddy, you'll be well

Take a REAL HOLIDAY this FALL!

Go to Europe! It's your slack season here in Canada, but in England, the social season, with all its life and amusements, is just getting into its stride. The lights of London are beckoning—the theatres and shops offer a diversity of interests and pleasures.

Plan now to make the crossing on a Cunard or Anchor-Donaldson Canadian Service Cabin Class Steamer. You will find the trip itself a most enjoyable experience. Sailing from Montreal means a thousand miles of sheltered river travel before you come to the open sea which is crossed in a few delightful days.

Ask your druggist agent about the St. Lawrence route to Europe, or write—presented. I fancy you'll be properly interested. Joanna looked up sharply at the mention of Brandon and Kenneth. She detected a change in Yvonne's tone as she pronounced the names. She wanted to ask her about them, but she knew Yvonne's silence was a warning. At least, some intrigue concerning her. But she thought better of the impulse. Her thoughts went to the future.

"Have him come up to you here, by all means," Yvonne insisted, shrewdly. "Larry he is a young man who will require handling. You continue to be conversed about him. Shall you—be much concerned about him?"

The audience of the theatre dropped her eyes. All at once she was conscious that her lips were quivering, and that she was conversed. It wasn't quite straight in her mind, but she had put away something Teddy had said for later consideration, and it came back to her, now a little confusedly. "She was enthusiastic. But a flapper without a show dog background. And you haven't been spoiled."

She wondered why John had not understood what was Teddy's denunciation. She decided she'd not out, soon.

"I shan't be so much concerned," she said to Yvonne. "I'll go around hunting and snoring."

Completes Flight Across Canada

Seaplane Travels from Montreal to Vancouver Without Mishap

Completing the first seaplane flight ever made across Canada, Squadron Leader A. Earl Godfrey, of the Royal Canadian Air Force headquarters at Ottawa, arrived at Vancouver recently. Within nine days of leaving Montreal, the transcontinental trip was completed after several delays because of bad weather. The 720 miles between Lake Wabamun, 40 miles west of Edmonton, and Vancouver, the distance which carried them over the Rocky Mountains, was covered in seven hours and 20 minutes, a non-stop flight.

"The course we took across Canada," Squadron Leader Godfrey said, "is an ideal seaplane route. Its possibilities for the future are good. With the exception of the Rocky Mountains, it would be possible in the future to fly by night over any portion of the route."

A HAPPY CHILDHOOD

A MATTER OF HEALTH

Let Baby's Own Tablets Keep Your Children Well

Little children very quickly get out of sorts. By prompt treatment they can usually stay as quickly as they get right again. Most of their troubles arise from the first place from the stomach or bowels; that is why a good cleansing, such as the first thing given to the doctor. Formerly castor oil was the means used to bring this about, now—drugs Baby's Own Tablets do the same work, but without trouble to the parent or discomfort to the little one. Children take Baby's Own Tablets easily because there is no nasty taste and because no griping after-effects follow their use.

As a specific for childhood indigestion, vomiting, constipation, colic, cold, teething pains, etc., there is nothing to equal Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SMP

Cooking experts figure that the SMP Enamelled Ware Roaster will save the average Canadian family fully $24.00 a year in meat bills. The secret is, it roasts the meat with very little shrinkage. Also, it makes cheap cuts taste like the best ones.

You place the roast in the roaster, put on the cover, and the roaster does the rest. No basting required. Every roast is perfectly cooked.

The cover fits close, so that cooking is done in a moist atmosphere, which makes a roaster oven, even when the meat is cooked, depending on size and kind—will don't shrink and will keep for 24 hours.

Russian Woman is Captain

Will Soon Command Soviet Trans-Atlantic Steamer

A woman soon is to command a Soviet Trans-Atlantic steamer. She is Captain Maria Malinova. Russia's first woman sea captain. After graduating with honors from the grand naval technical school she served successfully as able seaman, second officer and pilot on Black Sea steamers. Her appointment as a first class captain on an ocean steamer awaits only the approval of the central executive committee of the government. She wears the regulation uniform and trousers, having discarded skirts as cumbersome.

Painless and perfect in their action, Miller's Worm Powders are always safe and reliable remedy for children who show symptoms of worms. These symptoms are easily recognizable in a fitful sleep, frequently ending in convulsions. A point of notable importance is that after Miller's Worm Powders have expelled the worms, the stomach and bowels are set up into a very healthy condition.

Many things are governed by the law of supply and demand, with the possible exception of making mistakes.

CARRIED WIFE TO BED

Suffered So She Could Not Walk. Restored to Health

by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Missing, Ontario. "I am a practical nurse and I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For three months I was almost helpless and could not sit at the table long enough to drink a cup of tea. Many a time my husband carried me to bed. I would be so weak. Then he read the paper and got better after taking the Vegetable Compound, so he went and got it for me. When I had taken three bottles I was just like a new woman and I have had splendid health ever since. I went for a long walk and I feel like a new woman."

"I always take it, sometimes a half bottle whenever I need it. It is my only medicine and I have told many a woman about it. Any one who is suffering from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I will gladly write to her. I do all I can to recommend it for 1 cent."

"Not a thing," he declared. "When do we begin?"

The Rising Generation

The rising generation comes in for a lot of going over in various public addresses, family debates, etc. It is a consolidating with the young people of the U.S.A. It shows an increase of drunkenness among young girls in the land of prohibition. A census of juvenile institutions by the Department of Commerce, shows an increase of more than 6 per cent.
since 1910. In contrast, the delinquency amongst boys decreased a like amount. In 1910, 24,854 children were admitted to institutions. Of this number 21,469 were boys, and 3,385 were girls. In the first six months of 1923, 10,119 of whom were boys, and 2,147 girls. More than one half of the boys incarcerated in this period were guilty of offences against property, the census declares, while 58 per cent of girls incarcerated were guilty of drunkenness, disorderly conduct, or offences against

What the Whole World Knows--

There is

Only One RED CROSS

It's Mission is the same throughout the World. You Gave Royally in War.

Won't You Give royally in peace.

Wherever a Sick Child is found.

Wherever Disaster Strikes.

Wherever the Sick and Suffering cry for help

THERE IS RED CROSS

It Asks Your Help. Now Is the Time to Give

Their Excellencies Viscount Willingdon and Viscountess Willingdon made many friends on their voyage from England to Quebec on board the Canadian Pacific flag ship Empress of Scotland, when His Excellency came here in October to become Governor-General of the Dominion. They had visits to all parts of the vessel chatting with new visitors for Canada and presiding at the various functions that take place aboard ship during an ocean voyage. Sharing their popularity was their Cairn Terrier, Misty, who was friends with everyone except perhaps a plump Chow who looked to him as though he might develop into a dangerous rival.

Viscount's third Governor-General had a fine reception when he was welcomed at Quebec. He struck a careful note when he told his French Canadian audience he was glad to claim descent from the Normans and that French blood flowed in his veins equally as in theirs. "In this country," he said, "the descendants of our two races have worked for many years under the British Crown for a common purpose and object, namely, to promote the welfare and prosperity of the people of this wonderful country."

First impressions are vital in establishing successful relations and perhaps no impression gave so cordial an effect as one of His Excellency's speeches aboard the Empress of Scotland, which were broadcast all over Canada. In it he said: "I wonder if I may venture to add one word of rather an intimate and personal character. It is this—in wishing all my fellow-passengers the best of good luck in the future and all health and happiness they can possibly expect and obtain, may I ask them one and all to give an occasional thought—a kindly thought—to one who is about to undertake very grave responsibilities for the British Empire in the great Dominion of Canada."

This is the true democratic note, sounded with modesty and feeling and sure of an unreserved response throughout the length and breadth of Canada.
